They hold it to the sold that they can take their slaves to Kansandon Webraska, and that no power short of physical lores can turn them out again. The Westport meeting, after adopting a preamble, salting torth that they had heard of organizations on tool in some of the Northern States "having or thear object the colonization of the new Territeches exclusively with Eastern and Foreign pan ors," as also of a recent meeting of "a gang o to depois within this Territory who anduciously senered that no slave property should be brought advisor same," and being determined themselves to each in Kansas, their future homes "to carry with them their property of every description of to hold and enjoy the same in peace, or by

These resolutions ere sofficiently explicit. The South holds that the Nebraska bill opens the new Stitied there with their property, they cannot be stigned that the stident will, if need be, resort to "the last argument" to vindicate and maintain the rights that claim. And yet Mr. Douglas, the Administration, and the Doughface orators and organs everywhere, tell us that Slavery cannot go to rebuilt the stidents of the property of the state of the state of the property of the state of the property of the stat tive favorite measure and boasted bandlwork of a Democratic Administration!

Nationalis question, offers the following apology for that gentleman :

In that gentierman:

We were at Washington during the final consideration of the Nebraska bill, and know that ladge Macr was counted throughout with the episelition; and in this he acted in accordance with what he believed to the sentiment of his district; but he, with many others who were beneatly opposed to the bill, did not feel called upon to act with factious minority who had do termined to prevent all legislation, upon whatever subject, or defeat the will of the majority into the question. He did note to lake up and dispose of this bill at the earliest practicable dury for the fee inai vote, being accessfully called awas to Missinguished advocate of the bill—Sawtho of Georgia—to pair off. and of Georgia-to pair off.

in the same article the Democrat makes the adioxing revelation of editorial conferences with the President, which is amusing, to say the least:

professed free softer, was elected by an in-professed empority over the regular democratic candidate, and that the free soil sentiment of the North was most unaccountably opposed to the remarked of the compromise with slavery embraced in the Missouri line; whatever the representatire's private feelings and wishes might be, he was bound to obey the will of his constituents, when a clearly known as in that district. But, or asked in turn, why Senator Dones did not when so clearly known is in that this re-re asked in turn, why Senator Dones did not vote nor the bill. The President assured us that his old friend Senator Dones would be glad to do wat it were not for his legislative instructions; since the Wisconsin legislature had tabled the resolutions of instruction upon this particular questions. The Chest in the Nebraska Bill.

Much excitement, the Tolograph informs us, has been caused at Washington and Allowbere, by the discovery that the amendment, indeparated by the Senate, but after and same one, excluding alians from the right of suffrage in the new territories, is still retained in effect in the Nebraska bill, as finally passed. The New York Evening Post exposes this chea; at length. The 23th section of the bill provides that every free white male inhabitant above the age of 21 years, posremed of the qualifications herein after prescribed, shall be entitled to vote and shall be eligible to any office, in the Territory at the first election ; but the qualifications of voters and of holding office, at all subsequent elections, shall be prescribed by the Legislature, subject to the following

"Provided, That the rights of suffrage and of holding office shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States, and those who shall have declared on oath their intention to become such, and shall have taken an oath to support the Constitution of the United States, and the provisions eithis act. And provided farther, That no officer, saidler, seaman or marine, or any other person in the army or nary of the United States, or estached to troops in the service of the United States shall be allowed to rote or haid office in said territory by reason of being an service therein."

Under these provisions suffrage, at the first "Provided, That the rights of suffrage and of Under these provisions suffrage, at the first election, is comparatively unrestricted, but is subect afterwards to the conditions above imposed. The Post proceeds thus :

"These qualifications are citizenship, natural or acquired, and no oath to support the Constitution and the Nebraska Bill.
"The declaration of intention referred to is that

The declaration of internon reterror to its one continued in the naturalization act and the oath o support the Constitution is that taken at the end of a years residence after a declaration of intention. None but citizens—those who are born in the country, or by a 5 year's naturalization, have become citizens—swear to the Constitution. The judges citizens—swear to the Constitution. The judges who will be appointed will unquestionably so hold, and exclude all others from the polls.

But the most insulting provision in this section and the most intulerable provision in the whole bill, is that which makes it and the Constitution of equal sanctity, which compels every man who presents himself at the polls to role, or as a can-presents minisc at the point to the of the didate for office to swear that he will support the Nebriska bill; and which requires him to devote himself to the propagation of slavery before he is allowed to exercise the inalicuable right of a freenan.

"This is the first time an American citizen ha ever been required to take an oath to support an act of Congress; it is the first time suffage and office were ever dependent upon such as each; it is the first time the extension of slowery has been raised to the level of a constitutional duty.

"The operation of this qualification will be to seinde from the polls and from office in the terriexclude from the poits and from omee in the terre-tories nearly every man who goes there from the free States. It will disfranchise nearly every member of every emigrant association that has yet been formed, and place the entire political power of the territory in the hands of slavehol-ders or slavery propagandists: For no others will or can take the oath required by the terms of this act.

"It will also exclude from the polls and from office for five years, every foreigner who may reach the territory after the first election day.

"As the great bulk of the future settlers of Nebraska will be foreigners and emigrants from the free States, it is obvious that so far from governing themselves, the inhabitants of the territory." will have comparatively nothing to do with making or administering the laws which they will be required to obey. Such is the character of the bill which Senator Donglas informed the brass band, whom he addressed the other night at the St. Nicholas, was based upon the right of the needs to cover the maybean. the people to govern themselves."

THE HABEAR CORPUS CASE .- The Albany Evening Journal notices this case at length and pronounces the opinion of Judge Smith "able pronounces the opinion of Judge SMITH "able and elaborate." The Journal continues its remarks upon the case, after giving a synopsis of the Judge's decision, in this wise:

the times, it is a most of the control of the decision will probably be reviewed by the U.S. Court. The Supreme Court has once decided, (in the case of Prigg vs. Pennayiwania, 16 Peters' R., 538.) that it is within the province of Congress, and not of the Sates, to legislate for the aurrender of fugitives. But the case involved some doubts, and a portion of the Court dissonted from the conclusion reached. And in several cases, that of Stary for instance, in this State, (it Johns. R., 328.) in which the State Courts have enforced obedience to the writ of habees corpus, it has been conceiled as settled that the Fuderal and State Courts have conceurant jurisdiction. and State Courts have concurrent imisdiction over the question of lawful imprisonment, when that imprisonment is by an officer of the Uni-ted States, under protext of United Statesauthority. On account of these unbiguities, it would seem proper that the subject should again be judicially considered and pronounced upon. If the Opinion of Judge Smrth has no other offect it will be productive of good in brieging the matter up for discussion and decision in the Courts.

An Original View of the Question.

The Green Bay Alborate, which sustains the Nebraska Importy, holds that the bill is "emiantly a Northern measure," and the repeal of the Misseuri Compromise a "Northern triumph,"

Hear it:

So far from opening new territory to slavery, it will be found eminently a Northorn measure, as embodying the only principle which can keep our new territory free, and eventually rid this country of the curse of slavery. It is so understood by the altereder portion of the southern members of Congress, and they opposed it; it never would have passed, because it never would have based, because it never would have based, because it never would have based, because it never would have based by the Congress, had it not been so bitterly opposed by Greeley and other Northern fenatics. The repeal of the Missouri Compromise was a forthern trimph. That measure, if it ever had any practical effect, was a fraud upon the North. In lower life, the same transaction would have been called "obtaining goods under false pretences." It gave to the North the privilege of prohibiting slavery in territory where would have been cause. Obtaining good false pretences." It gave to the North the privi-lege of prohibiting slavery in territory where slaves could never have been held with profit, and never would have been introduced, and in return the South obtained the right, by implied consent, to introduce slavery in territory which ought to and might have been free if its own people had nave been allowed a voice.

rizing is the fact, that Slavery already exists in Kansas, and that the people of the border counties in Missouri and Arkansas are organizing to emigrate to the new Territories with their slavesprepared, if necessary, to establish and maintain ne " peculiar institution" there by force.

RHODE ISLAND.-The Common Council of Providence have resolved that on account of the passage of the Nebraska bill by Congress, and the recent proceedings under the fugitive slave law, they will make no appropriation for the pub-lic celebration of the Declaration of Independonce, but that on the fourth day of July next. they will cause the bells of the several churches to be tolled for one hour at sunrise, at noon, and at sunset. Upon this statement the Evening Pari enys: "If tolling the bells six months wake old Tristam Burges from his sleep, they could not commence too soon. The more shad-ow of such a man in the United States House of Representatives, would be worth more than all the members Rhode Island has had there since.

He also visited several temples, which, though smaller than in China, have more gidding on their walls and ornaments on their idols, and generally in better order. The priests as well as the people were distinguished for their courtesy. The cities visited were not only very extensive, (estimated to bo six miles long) but, with wide, well formed streets. Kassacca is some fifteen to two try miles disting, by land, from the ships; and Mr. Bittinger being thus necessarily long absent, some awaicity was fall about him. As he was returning, a Japanese officer put into his hands to return or board, and shortly afterward a courier was returning, a supances of more plus that have a to neutral not beard, and shortly afterward a courier mounted on a splendid black horse, delivered a similar dispatch, and finding it was understood and acted on, turned round, and galloped back again to report the approach of the American officer, who concluded his journey by torch-light, and found on his arrival that everything that had occurred had been noted, even the humber of buttons on his coat being recorded.

One officer contrived to get up to Jeddo, or sufficiently near it to inform binuself that there is five fathous depth of water close up to the eity. Mississippi, and Powhattan, having in tow the Lexington, Vandalia, and Macedonian, went up to the "American anchorage," a spot thus designated on Commodore Perry's first visit. On the 18th of February the commodore removed his flag to the Powhattan, and the Vandalia was sent to Uraga, where it was expected that the interview between the respective commissions would be held. On the 24th the fleet moved up to a large town called Kanagawa, about twelve miles from feddo by water and nine by land. The city was planify soon from themast-head. At Yokohama, a staail fishing village near Kanagawa, a council house was sected, and the interviews were trustered from Uraga to that place. These lots are in the south-east quarter of Section siz, Town 12, Rango 9, and comprise the whole of that tract except about forty lots, which have been took. The land is high and dry, and is about twenty rods from the Wisconsia River, which runs arallel with the south line of the tract. The so called parasis with the stoom has a well-depoted the La Crosse.

Rail Road will probably be located on curirect, and wo expect that the principal part of the business of the city. will be done upon it at no distant day. It is as near the present centre of business as the First Ward of Milwau present centre of outdates with the late is a higher and see is to the United States Hotel, and it is a higher and handsomer piece of land, and better adapted for city pur-roses than the first ward of Milwaukee.

The title is CLEAR AND UNQUESTIONABLE. ame directly from the United States to Mr. Dunn, one of the undersigned, and was never complicated by any con-nexion with the Stare Authorities, the Improvement Fund ntroversy has tied up all the available property in Portage great natural advantages of this important point. Let set-tlers come in feely. Now is the best time, just before the Rail Real gets here. They shall have as handsome loss with clearer titles, and at cheaper rates, than can be found any other town of this size in the state.

We have watched attentively the course of these trials, until we have become convinced that the trials, until we have become convinced that no possible and of public justice has been or is no possible and of public justice has been or is likely to be subserved by them and although a sense of propriety has dictated silence upon that head while the cases were in progress, yet now they are over for the term, no reason exists for withholding an opinion which has been confined by observation, and arrived at under no prejulice whatever toward those who have conducted them.

As a sample of the spirit with which these seizures and prosecutions have been conducted we give the following circumstances, which was narruted to no by a gentleman of maire credibility and standing, who was cognizated of the facts, and vouched to us for their tunth. A woman, who lost her husband by death, was loft destinate in the pineries, with two boys, the eldest not tuitten, and was assisted by the neighbors to live through the winter. The little boys wishing to help their mother, went to a swall or meadow on government land, in which were some cedar trees, and by hard work through the winter, cut some 250 cedar posts, which they hauled to the lake a long distance, two at a time on a band select. Among other prosents, perhaps the one most valued was a copy of Webster's Complete Dictionary to the imperial interpreter. To the high officers were given books, nifes, pistols, swords, wines, cloths, maps, stoves, clocks and correials, the last of which they fully appreciated, and, as regards clocks, when it was proposed to bring an engineer from ship-board to sef them agoing the Japanese said there was no occasion for that, for they had clockmakers in Yedo who understood them gerfectly.

Enving now committed to the earth, with all due honor, the remains of our deceased shipmate, the procession was re-formed, and with music to the front, again passed through the village and the thousands of spectators, to our boats on the beach. Hence we took leave of the officials, who throughout the entire ceremony Lad conducted themselves with great propriety and extended to us every civility, and returned to the ship, pleased with the consciousness of not only having seen that assisted in giving such honors, in such a place, to a deceased brother.

The writers in the China papers take exception to one feature of this negotiation, viz: that the Japanese refused to admit into the proposal ready c clause granting to all other countries the states. The gentlemen who made this objection are, we presume, Englishmen, and their disapproval is natural. It is to the honor of the Automistration that sent out the expedient to admit a proval is natural. It is to the honor of the Automistration that sent out the expedient to admit and one time all the nations of the earth to such intercourse. The trenty with the United States. The lass, however, is nor to be wondered at. The Japanese may not deem it expedient to admit of one time all the nations of the earth to such intercourse. The trenty with the United States is but an experiment, and may very possibly be regarded by the Japanese Guvernment as a lazard-regarded by the Japanese Guvernment as a lazard-re

And how vastly superior, how much nobler, are such conquests and triumphs than those of the bayonet and the cannon. How much more worthy of the Government of the United States is such an expedition; with such results, than the concemplated quarrel with Spain as a protext for the acquisition of Cuba. It will stand immenorially to the creation of Mr. Fillmone's Administration that at no sacrifice of human life, and by no violation of the laws of national comity, an immense Empire has been unsepultured, and the light of commercy, of civilization and Christianity admitted into its long scaled chambers. And what a future is opened to Japan and to the world. How mighty events now crowd upon us. China undergoing a revolution, preparatory to an

Washington, June 13.

Washington, June 13.

An astonicing frand bus just been discovered by Messer, Campball of Obio, Beaton, Mace, and others, in the Nebraska bill. It seems that Mr. Richardson stated to the House that his substitute was the Senate bill simply, without the Clayton provise, when, in fact, he had inserted a clause providing that no persons other than the citizens of the United States should hold office or vote until they had sworn to support the principles of this bill. It also provided for continuing in force all laws locally applicable. This includes the act of 1824, excluding from said territories all foreigners, on penalty of a thousand dollars, without a passport from the War Department, limiting the time he shall remain, and route of travel.

Mr. Msee will introduce a bill amending and explaining the Nebraska act; and Messes. Benton, Campbell, and others, will take the floor in denunciation of the fraud thus imposed on the country.

The following characteristic description of the Western Man, is copied from the French paper, the Pays, published at Paris:

per, the Pays, published at Paris:

The Westran Man.—The great and excelent qualities of the Man of the West, are concealed under a rude and even coarse envelope.—
This is easily explained. The West was formed by an agglomeration of hundreds of thousands of men departing separately from every corner of the Union, after wards collecting in groups of ten, then of twenty, then of hundreds, then of thousands, proportionately as they opened for themselves routes through the impenetrable forests; relating to each other their superhuman labors, their struggles grainst nature, their combats with the Indians, their success in agriculture; mutually Stroggies organist hature, their compats with the Indiana, their success in agriculture; mutually discussing the difficulties remaining to be conquered, their hopes for the future, and finally combining their forces to clear the land and constitute the immense world their labor had subjustitute the immense world their labor had subjugated.

All these men had passed through strange trials; they had made experience of savage life; they had, as it were, lost the memory of civilization—Their bodies were broken by every variety of fatigue, their minds had lost their polish, by their mode of existence and they had no sufficient time left to recover their forgotten education.—All those who came to partaine with them of the unfolding wealth of these new countries, were compelled to adopt their strange manners, for they also were condemned to pass through the same trials, the same labors, and the same struggles.

The consequence was an agglomeration of be The consequence was an agglomeration of beingu spart, sturys armed for the defence of their persons, going to church with their rifles upon their sheulders and pistols in their belts. They seemed lite a military colony without discipline.
There, each one administered justice for himself, with the rifle, the pistol or the knife. At table, at the church, in the streets, upon a word, upon the least dispute, a man fell, and sometimes two, by the hand of a neighbor and adversary, and personal quarrels wore often converted into regular battles. This state of things dates not so very fur back—to hardly fifty years from the present day. They fought on foot or on horseback, with the commiptant rifle, wherever they might happen to meet, while the winesses had happen to meet, while the witne might happen to meet, while the witnesses had only the duty of verifying the death of the combatants; and often the witnesses themselves changed parts, and from simple spectators, became actors in these deplorable scenes.

A long time necessarily pussed before those eccentric habits but their exaggeration. Meanwhile, the States of the West were constituted; aplendid cities, were built; the population increased with a rapidity truly extraordinary. But it needed the hearing of new population upon new population to effect a mitigation of these evits, which, after all, still retain something of their primitive character. And the man of the West remains at the present day, in nony respects, that which he formerly was. He is free and easy, rude, coarse, independent, susceptible, proud of his individuality, and menumble, familiar to excess. The Kentuckian, who has long been the type of this half-civiled savage, has been defined as "half horse, half alligator;" that is, something monstrous, a being almost supernatural. that is, something monstrous, a being almo supernatural.

With the man of the West the sentiment equality is pushed to its extreme limits. This saits from his babit of life, and his continued saits from his babit of life, and his continued ne-consities. The most polished among the West-ero men, those whom a liberal education ought to guarantee from these exaggerations, are the first to glory in this excessive principle and put it into practice.

Goveral Jackson, for example, who was during his whole life the veritable man of the West, whose youth was chequered with rifle and pistor about, whose public life as a military commander and as President of the United States, attests this need of absolute independence and this moral indiscipline which is the distinguished mark of the Western man—General Jackson, I say, clothed with the highest functions of the government, made no scruple of touching glasses in the exhausts with people of the lowest classes; and strange to say, it never happened that he failed strange to say, it never happened that he failed to meet with universal respect.

Henry Clay, the eminent statesman, willingly passed his leisure hours in the barracoms, drinking and talking politics with the first comer; and he said once, on the floor of the Senate, in a speech moreover of great power, as were all those which fell from his eloquent lips:—"For myself, I live upon salt pork and cabbage!"

The Western man is, as may be well imagined, rather careless in his dress but it is not in the same manner as the Yankoe. He disdains the black control fine cloth, threadbare and out of fashion; he dresses himself with thick coarse same manner as the Yankoe. He disdains the black cont of fine cloth, threadbare and out of fashion; he dissex himself with thick coarse cloth, and his clothes are always comfortable and commodious. He wears heavy iron shed shoes; his cravet, if he has any, has the devil-may-care tie, or is not tied at all, and his bat is of straw or felt, with a lerge brim; such is his general style of dress. Wherever he goes, he is smoking or chowing, alternately, or simultaneously.

Passing in the street, he will not sak you for fire to light his eigar; he will uncermoniously take yours from your lips, light his clgar, and return it without rendering thanks, for which he has not the time. If he preceives that you are smoking a bad eigar, he will throw it away, and offer you two or three of his own, if his own are better, nor does he require or expect thanks any more than he offers them. This trait sufficiently displays what is at bottom, the heart of the Western man. He is, in fact, generous to excess, gread in his hospitality, devoted even to the death, obliging withot calculation. You arrive at his house, with a letter of introduction, a pure formulary of politeness; he does not besitate to place himself and even h spurse at your service, and without counting, never disquicting bimself as to whether our are in condition to return the favor. "If he is an honest man," says the Western man, speaking of the person he has obliged, "he will, sooner or later, repay the loan; if he is a rogue, why let us consider that he has put his hand in my pocket and robbed me, and say no more about it. The regret, and the remove will be for him and not for me."

SECR-MAKING IN VIRGNIA,-The Richmon Enquirer recommends to the Southern people to manufacture their own shoes. The Evening Post says, "Not oil y should they do that, but if we are obliged to my down their fugitives they ought to make ours also. They are said to ex-cel the Northern shoes maker in cutting hides;"

BROOKEY, N. Y., Due. 20th, 1953.

For about eight years I have been severely sillicted with the Astima; for the last two years I have been solved with the Astima; for the last two years I have suffered beyond all my powers of description; months at a time I have not been able to sleep in a bod, getting what reat I could string in my chair. My difficulty of breathing, and my suffering some so great at times, that for hours togolier my frigands expected such hours would be my last. During the part six years I have bad in he sid and attendance of some of the most eckebrated physicians, mis have received had lite good bottom to procure the Cauris at Section I firsting the sum of the most eckebrated physicians, mis have received had the good bottom to procure the Cauris at Section I firsting Hygean Vapor and togot the Cauris at Section I firsting Hygean Vapor and togot the control my most violent attacks, and I was supered distress, clamest suffering for want colonials. I make then be minutes from the time I hade to my stomach, and took afterspoorful of the Charry Syrup, I was relieved in a great measure from the difficulty of breathing, and had a comfortable night. I have since continued it with the greatest possible benefit, and an now comparatively well. God only knows the amount of suffering the my transfer current.

I came to New York in the ship Telegraph; my notice place is St. John, New Brunawick; when I reached this city, my health was very poor; had a very hedeough, raised a great doal of matter, which was recy hedeough, raised with blood; had pain in my lett chee, and was very weak and emesisted. My threads and physician pronounced my case Consumption, and beyond the reach of medicine. I accordingly heard of Dr. Curtis's Hygeum, or inhaling Hygen vapor and Cherry Syrup, and obtained a pockage, which I verily believe wes the means of axing my life.—Soon after wearing the Inhader, I found it relieved the pressure on my lungs, and after a while the diseasy made its appearance upon the surface under the Inhaler. I took its Cherry Syrup as disceled, and endituded to do so, my cough
